

PMX Umbilical Cord Blood Collection Service

Parsmedix Limited (pmx) offers a professional Umbilical cord blood collection service “second to none”. We have been recognised by the UK cord banks as providing a customer focused service, with the sole aim of a simple and stress-free collection of your baby’s umbilical cord blood.

Peace of mind is unique to Parsmedix Limited (pmx).

This is achieved through the Allocation of two healthcare Professionals for the procurement of your sample (a primary and backup contact). A phlebotomist will be available to you at any time, and should they be called to another labour there is already a backup familiar with your case available.

In addition we provide a 24 hour number for additional security. We understand the importance of your baby’s cord blood collection. Often this is a decision that is made due to an existing history or diagnosis in the family. Therefore we honour this with our commitment to collecting the cord blood sample on your behalf.

Our phlebotomists are licensed to collect umbilical cord blood through 3rd Party Agreements as required by the Human Tissue Authority (HTA) Guidelines. All our staff have undergone specialist training in line with the HTA and the National Association of Phlebotomists guidelines. Parsmedix (pmx) personnel are fully compliant with the NHS guidelines for the recruitment of staff, meaning they are unlikely to be refused entry to maternity units based on our rigorous recruitment and selection criteria. We have successfully performed Collections in hospitals that normally prevent cord blood collection (However this is not guaranteed in every circumstance).
